MORNING TIME

As you greet your preteen in the morning, remind them, "You can learn more about God by doing your GodTimes or reading your Bible. When you learn more about God it's easier to follow Him."

DRIVE TIME

While in the car with your preteen, prompt a discussion about leadership. Consider asking the following questions: "Who is a leader in your life that you have a hard time following? What about a leader you enjoy following? What do you think your leaders know that you don't?"

MEAL TIME

Q & A for kids: If you were in charge at home, what would your house rules be?

Q & A for parents: Do you think it was harder to obey as a kid, or is it harder as an adult?

BED TIME

Share about a time when it seemed that no one else was listening to the person in charge. Did you choose to obey anyway? It's extra hard to obey when you're the only one, but God can give you the strength to do it. Noah followed through on what God told him to do for many, many years. Pray together, that God will help you listen to and obey the people in charge this week, even when others don't.
